

FASCIA

Like any good performance, seeing behind the scenes can sometimes ruin the magic. We all know that every shade needs hardware to hang and operate, but do we need to see it? Not if you don't want to!

Fascia is a decorative aluminum cover used to conceal the shade hardware from view at the front of the shade (towards the room), at the back of the shade (towards the glass), or both sides together. Our notch-less Fascia snaps right into place on our SoloMount Brackets, requiring no tools to install or uninstall. For Regular or Reverse Roll shades and available in five colors, this multifaceted accessory has everything covered.

can be cut to size or ordered in full-length pieces, allowing you to customize when you arrive to your project. Engineered for stability and ease of use, the lightweight aluminum is not only easy to manipulate during installation, but also saves on shipping costs!

To complete the look, matching aluminum End Caps are available for each Shading System that can be placed over the bracket at the end of the installation. End Caps are available in various sizes for all brackets, and come in all five aluminum finish colors to match your Fascia.

Unsure if you want to use Fascia on your project? No problem! Our SoloMount Brackets allow for the addition of Fascia and End Caps at any time after installation.
